

Brian Callaci
Curriculum Vitae

University of Massachusetts-Amherst
Department of Economics
Thompson Hall
200 Hicks Way
Amherst, MA 01060
bcallaci@econs.umass.edu

Education

2005. B.A., Economics, Franklin & Marshall College

2016 M.A., Economics, University of Massachusetts-Amherst

2018 (expected). Ph.D, Economics, University of Massachusetts-Amherst
Comprehensive Examination Areas: Economic History (pass with distinction), Political Economy

Publications

Manuscripts in Preparation

2016. “A Just Transition for Fossil Fuel Workers,” co-authored with Robert Pollin

Magazine Publications

2016. “A Just Transition for US Fossil Fuel Workers,” co-authored with Robert Pollin.
The American Prospect, Summer 2016 <http://prospect.org/article/just-transition-us-fossil-fuel-industry-workers>

Web-based Publications

2014. “Should Young Workers Pass on Pensions and Fight for Social Security?” Center for Popular Economics, February 24, 2014 <http://www.populareconomics.org/should-young-workers-pass-on-pensions-and-fight-for-social-security/>

2014. “Maximizing Shareholder Value is (Literally) Killing Us” Center for Popular Economics, November 10, 2014 <http://www.populareconomics.org/maximizing-shareholder-value-is-literally-killing-us/>

Awards and Honors

2016. Michael Weiner Scholarship for Labor Studies, Major League Baseball Players Trust

Departmental Talks

2015. "Economizing on Transactions costs, or Shifting Risk? The Decline of the Chandlerian Firm, 1975-Present," Graduate Research Seminar, UMass Department of Economics, December 1, 2015

2015. "Financialization, Worker Pensions, and the Political Economy of Corporate Governance," Graduate Research Seminar, UMass Department of Economics, February 11, 2015

Professional Experience

2005-2006. Service Learning Coordinator, Franklin & Marshall College

2006-2009. Research Analyst, UNITE HERE

2009-2011. Senior Research Analyst, Workers United/SEIU

2011-2013. Senior Research Analyst, Change to Win Strategic Organizing Center

2013-2015. Independent Research Consultant, Change to Win Strategic Organizing Center

Teaching Experience

Teaching Assistantships

2013. Introduction to Microeconomics

2014. Introduction to Microeconomics

2014. Labor and the American Economy

2015. Introduction to Microeconomics

Research Experience

2015-2016. Research Assistant to Robert Pollin, Political Economy Research Institute

Departmental Service

2015-2016. Co-chair, Economics Graduate Student Organization, UMass-Amherst